Iraq Rebels in March to Crush Red Government

By TOM MASTERSON

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Iraqi nationalist rebels claimed today they were marching on Baghdad to crush the Communist-led government of Premier Abdul Karim Kassam.

Kassam's warplanes bombed Mosul, a major oil center, 220 miles northwest of Baghdad that is the seat of a revolt led by Col. Abdul Wahab Shawaf, apparently without decisive effect.

A war of words raged between radio Mosul and radio Baghdad. The smokescreen of propaganda veiled military movements, but showed bitterly the antagonisms between leftist followers of Kassam and military men who lean toward U.A.R. President Nasser's brand of Arab nationalism.

Smoldering unrest had broken into open rebellion less than eight months after Kassam led the bloody coup that killed King Faisal and destroyed his pro-Western monarchy July 14, 1958.

Conflicting claims, and counter-claims alternated as the day advanced.

Radio Baghdad declared at one time Shawaf was fleeing toward the Syrian border and offered $20,000 for him, dead or alive.

Later it reported he had been killed by his own men. This purported news, obviously aimed to dismay Shawaf's followers, was accompanied by the reading of hundreds of messages pledging allegiance to Kassam.

Shawaf himself spoke over radio Mosul to deny he was either fleeing or dead. He taunted the government in a voice strained and at times almost hysterical.

"We will keep fighting to the end, until we wipe out the corrupt regime and victory will be ours," he pledged.

He told the people not to be misled by radio Baghdad's production of pro-Kassam messages, and brushed off the air raid on Mosul.

Public Hearing Tonight for Amendments

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—

Committees from the House and Senate will meet tonight to decide on the three proposed constitutional amendments they think should be submitted to popular vote at the November, 1960 general election.

Their recommendations will go to the Legislature, which has the final say.

A proposal advocated by Gov. Orval E. Faubus as another point of his resistance to federal integration is considered certain to be one of the measures chosen. The proposed amendment would permit local school districts to maintain separate public school systems in favor of student aid programs.

Other proposed amendments cover a range extending all the way from legalizing gambling in Hot Springs to dictatorial powers for Faubus—the latter the tongue-in-cheek suggestion of Rep. Gayle Windsor of Pulaski County.

In all, 25 proposals have been advanced. The Legislature is restricted to submitting a maximum of three at the next succeeding general election. Any number may be submitted on petition of voters.

The House and Senate Constitutional Amendments Committees are the groups meeting tonight. The session will be held at the Capitol and will start at 7:30. It will be open to the public.

Bomb Scare Delays School at Sweet Home

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—

More than 600 students waited outside Puller High School at nearby Sweet Home today as sheriff's officers searched the building for a bomb.

Students began classes in the all-white school about 20 minutes later than usual.

It was the second bomb scare at Puller High in a week. The previous report of a bomb also turned out to be a hoax.

Pulaski County Sheriff Marion Rowe said a telephone operator at Little Rock got an anonymous bomb report shortly after 7 a. m. today. Officers went to the school.

Rowe said the telephone company traced the call to a pay phone at a service station near the school. Attendants at the station told officers the phone had been used by a young man driving an old model automobile.

A number of worried parents called the sheriff's office inquiring about the report, Rowe said. He questioned the caller, who was a stranger, or possibly a student who wanted to get out of classes for a while.

The caller said the bomb was set to go off at 9 a. m. The deadline passed without incident and officers led the students into the building about 9:10.

Conviction of Brown Upheld By Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—

The Supreme Court today upheld the contempt conviction of Emanuel Brown, New York garment maker, who refused to answer grand jury questions in an investigation of racketeering.

The 1957 grand jury inquiry had been spurred by the acid blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel a year earlier. It was said that Riesel's campaign against racketeers was the motive for a hoodlum throwing acid in his face.

The Supreme Court divided 5-4 in upholding the contempt conviction.

Justice Stewart wrote the majority opinion. Chief Justice Warren wrote a dissent in which Justices Black, Douglas and Brennan joined.

Officer Kills Convict in Alabama

TRENTON, Ga. (AP)—

A one-shot showdown with police officers brought death to an Alabama convict at the end of one of the latest manhunts ever centered in the tri-state area of Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee.

Desperado William Smothers, 32, died in surgery at nearby Ft. Oglethorpe Hospital Saturday night a few hours after the police chief of this northwest Georgia mountain city sent a bullet into his shoulder.

Chief H. H. Hutchings and Sheriff Allison Blovens got on the convict's trail through a telephoned tip. They found him in a field near U.S. 11 in the Wildwood community, just south of the Tennessee line and about 20 miles southwest of Chattanooga.

"Smothers drew a gun from under his coat," Hutchings said, "and stuck it in the sheriff's face. 'I beat him to it.' Before he could pull the trigger, I shot him."

The single shot climaxed a hunt that began Thursday after Smothers, serving six robbery sentences, launched his bid for freedom near Birmingham.

The desperado overpowered Alabama highway patrolman Otto Dees who was taking him from Kilby Prison at Montgomery to Birmingham to stand trial on a pistol possession charge.

Smothers forced Dees and the driver of the patrol car, convict Rusty Ted Bailey, to get in a house he picked at random. There he made the occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Keith, provide food.

After that he switched to the Keiths' car and took the four persons with him as hostages.

Fourteen hours later he released them unharmed on Sand Mountain near Flat Rock, Ala.

Four Youths Die in New York Wreck

EAST MORICHES, N.Y. (AP)—

Two girls and their dates were killed early today when their small foreign car went off New York Highway and struck a tree. Police identified the dead as: Evelyn R. Rosenblum, 19; Ernest Parr, 20, both of Mastic; Karen Skarka, 15, of Eastport; and Sandra Samuelson, 15, of Mastic Acres, all Long Island communities.

Police said they could not determine why the car went out of control.

Fastest Sub to Start Sea Trials

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—

The atomic submarine Skipjack—supposed to be the world's fastest and most maneuverable—began sea trials today.

The Skipjack was launched last March and has been in her fitting-out dock here since then.

Ask Funds for Area Hit by Unemployment

WASHINGTON (AP)—

House Democrats today renewed their campaign to get funds for communities economically depressed by chronic unemployment.

Starting hearings a House Banking subcommittee was told by Chairman Brent Spence (D-Ky.) that passage of a bill calling for more than $75 million dollars in loans and grants is of "supreme importance to the economy of our country."

Last year, President Eisenhower vetoed similar legislation. The administration wants to limit aid funds to 50 million dollars and emphasize technical assistance to local areas which have lost major industries.

Spence said current chronic joblessness is largely the result of mechanical and technological advances. He cited Kentucky's coal and railroad industry as an example.

"That's not only the condition in Kentucky, but also West Virginia, Pennsylvania, southern Illinois and other coal mining regions," he said.

Solomon Barkin, research director for the Textile Workers Union of America, said fundamental shortcomings in many industries are not temporary problems to be treated by "superficial palliatives," but by "a fundamental reconstruction of the industries and communities involved."

Barkin said the textile industry is an example. He said the same economic difficulties are now invading the automobile and farm implement industries.

The Democratic bill, of which Spence is the author, would authorize federal payment for 100 weeks of subsistence pay to unemployed workers for the purpose of retraining them in new jobs.

Probe Starts of Fire That Killed 21

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—

An investigation—requested by Gov. Orval E. Faubus—into last week's fire that killed 21 youths at the Arkansas Negro Boys Industrial School at nearby Wrightsville, has been started by the school's Board of Trustees.

Board Member J.C. Hawkins of North Little Rock said no one had been fired or relieved of duties because of the blaze. He said the three-man board had not conferred with Faubus but that the governor requested the probe through Alfred F. Smith of Paragould, board chairman.

Anderson E. Woods Sr., of Menifee (Conway County), was the third board member. He said the inquiry was launched Saturday with a meeting at the school.

Hawkins and Woods declined to give any details of the investigation and said any statement probably would be cleared through the governor's office and might be released by the governor.

The fire leveled a dormitory at the school. Forty-seven youths survived by escaping through windows after they had kicked off heavy metal screens covering them.

Economic Group Would Ease a Few Controls

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrat budget of the Senate House Economic Committee called today for easing of governmental monetary controls and revision of foreign aid, farm aid and other major government programs.

Republicans, criticizing what they called the "partisan political tone" of the report, generally supported President Eisenhower's economic and fiscal policies.

But the committee members split within as well as along party lines in their findings on the annual economic message Eisenhower sent to Congress in January. Lengthy hearings on the message have been held.

Three Democratic House members, Reps. Wright Patman (Tex.), Hale Boggs (La.) and Henry S. Reuss (Wis.), filed separate statements supplementing the majority report prepared under the direction of Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.).

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) differed with some portions of the principal minority reported submitted by Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.).

The committee members appeared to agree that 1959 will be a relatively prosperous year, with general stability in prices.

Pointing to the millions of unemployed, the Democratic majority said a goal of maximum employment "should be given the highest priority."

But the Republicans said inflation offers the gravest threat to continued economic growth and expansion, including full employment.

The Democratic majority said "restrictive monetary and credit policies would discourage employment and injure state and local governments, as well as small businesses."

It questioned adequacy of the now proposed 41-billion-dollar defense budget and protested manpower cutbacks in the Army and Marine Corps.

It suggested revamping of foreign aid to meet the expanding Soviet economic competition in underdeveloped areas.

The farm program of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, stressing lower price supports, was termed a failure with a suggestion that the nation should "rethink our farm program" with emphasis upon the family-sized farm.

The Republicans agreed that Congress should reconsider the entire farm program, but neither they nor the Democratic members offered specific suggestions.

Javits, in his separate statement, urged a middle-of-the-road course on such projects as housing, airports, depressed areas, and health.

Rep. Boggs, in his individual statement, told fellow Democrats he could not agree with their "blanket endorsement" of some specific programs.

Will to Live All Germans Have in East

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—

The will to live is about all the East German people have left after 13 years of exposing crime and vice conditions, said yesterday he has been receiving a lot of telephone calls along the lines of: "Come on out here if you want to see something, they're doing it right now."

"I just tell them I'm not a police man," Laster said, "that all I'm interested in is information."

The judge has contracted for radio time to air his expose and is scheduled to appear on the first program today.

He announced his campaign after two phiball machine operators, Cecil Hill and Harold Dunaway, accused him of knowing about an alleged "payoff" to a local newspaper reporter, to keep the reporter from writing articles about the phiball business.

Laster and Robert Trout of the Arkansas Democrat, the reporter, denied the charges and Laster asked the Pulaski County Grand Jury to investigate the allegations. The jury is taking up the case in its current session.

Proxmire to Again Jump on Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP)—

Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) hit again today at the Democratic Senate leadership of Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.), saying it short-circuited important roles of the Senate by "settling issues off the floor."

Proxmire hammered away further on his theme that Democratic senators should have more of a role in determining the party's programs and policies.

"It is not enough for us to grope instinctively along even though we follow a man of great and proven political genius. We must know and we must insist that the American people know to whom we are responsible and how we are going," he said in a prepared Senate speech.

To weeks ago Proxmire delivered a Senate speech criticizing "the decision of our leadership not to call caucuses in recent years of all Democrats for the purpose of determining a legislative program."

Johnson was in Texas, reportedly recovering from influenza, at the time of Sen. Proxmire's first speech. Proxmire notified Johnson he planned to make his second speech on the matter today and suggested Johnson be present.

Governor Suffers From Bad Cold

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—

Gov. Orval E. Faubus left his office early today, complaining of a bad cold. The governor said he was "feeling tough" as he headed for the executive mansion.

Dr. T. J. Raney, the governor's physician, had gone to the Capitol on other business and dropped in to see Faubus. After learning the governor didn't feel good, Raney advised him to go home.

Mrs. Mitchell Lagrone and Miss Judy Watkins honored with Tea.

Mrs. Vincent Foster, Mrs. William Duckett, and Mrs. Dorsey McRae, Jr. honored Mrs. Mitchell Lagrone, recent bride and Miss Judy Watkins, bride-elect, with an afternoon tea on March 7 in the Foster home.

In the receiving line the guests met the honorees, the hostesses, Mrs. Robert Lagrone and Mrs. Dick Watkins.

Beautiful arrangements of double white stock and Dutch irises were placed at vantage points throughout the home. Those flowers and white candles were used in the crystal chandelier which centered the dining table.

The color scheme of green and white was carried out in the frosted punch and individual cakes. Coffee and other tasty refreshments were also served at alternate hours by Mrs. Charles Wilson, Mrs. Frank Nolen, Mrs. Charles Tarleton of Little Rock, Mrs. Walter Verhalen, Jr. and Mrs. Dorsey McRae Sr.

Other members of the house party were Mrs. Cecil Wyatt of Sheridan, Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, Mrs. Comer Boyett, Mrs. Dick Foster, Mrs. Ben McRae, Mrs. L. A. Foster, Miss Ann Watkins, and Miss Sharon Foster.

Rose Garden Club Met in Stone Home

The Rose Garden Club of Hope met on March 6 in the home of Mrs. Charles Stone with Mrs. Herbert Dodson as co-hostess. An abundance of beautiful spring flowers were seen everywhere in the home, among which were arrangements brought by each member in accordance with the divisions to be entered in the flower show.

Mrs. J. O. Luck had charge of the program. She presented the rules and regulations governing the flower show and led the discussion of that subject. Twenty-one members made plans for the flower show, "Dancing Daffodils," to be held on March 19 in the Armory. They were served a dessert plate and coffee by the hostesses.

Mrs. H. C. Whitworth Entertains Bridge Club

Beautiful spring flowers filled the home of Mrs. H. C. Whitworth on March 6 when she entertained her Friday Bridge Club. The two tables of players were made up of club members and one guest, Mrs. Roy Anderson. High score prizes were won by Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. M. M. McCloughan. A salad and dessert plate with coffee were served by the hostess.

Many Believe Giants Could Win National

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The word floating back and forth between the Arizona Cactus and the Florida citrus is that the San Francisco Giants could win the National League pennant this year.

The it is another right-handed pitcher. His name is Gene Conley and at the moment he is performing for the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Assn., and carrying on side feud with the Milwaukee Braves.

The Braves don't like the idea of their chafel playing basketball when he could be working out for the club, for which he didn't win a game last year.

He is trade bait, and the Giants have admitted they've reached the talking stage of a deal for the likely right-hander. But so far the asking price has been too high.

A case in point happened Sunday when the Cleveland Indians, nicknamed "the Giants," 3-2, in Phoenix, Ariz.

Paul Giel forced in the winning run in the eighth inning by walking pitcher John Briggs. Vic Power, who had opened the inning with a triple, scored and that was the ball game.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, another sleeper in the NL, scored their second victory over the champion Milwaukee Braves, a 2-1, decision at Bradenton, Fla. Bob Porterfield, Don Rowe and Laurin Pepper combined to hold the Braves to four hits. Both Pirate runs were unearned.

The world champion New York Yankees, held hitless for seven innings, outlasted the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3, in 11 innings at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Elsewhere in the exhibition circuit, the Baltimore Orioles edged the Kansas City A's, 3-2, in 14 innings at Miami; the Washington Senators eked out an 8-7 triumph over the Detroit Tigers in 11 innings at Lakeland, Fla.; the Boston Red Sox won 12-8 from the Chicago Cubs at Scottsdale, Ariz.; the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-3, at Clearwater, Fla.; the Chicago White Sox stopped the Cincinnati Reds, 5-3, at Tampa, Fla.

Horses From Arkansas Cop 11 Firsts

SUNFLOWER, Miss., (AP) — Arkansas horses took 11 prizes Saturday in the Sunflower County Livestock Assn. quarterhorse show. Two of them were triple winners.

Jack Mehrens' Oak Tree Joe took three of four action class awards, junior and senior bit reining and junior cutting.

The other action class prize, senior cutting, went to Joe Peg, owned by Jimmie Orrell of McGehee, Ark. Joe Peg also won the aged stallion category and was named show grand champion.

Two other horses owned by Mehrens, of Dermott, Ark., were winners. Joe's Priss was the grand champion mare and winner of the aged mare harness classification.

Tully won the grand champion gelding class.

The reserve champion stallion was Juan's Reyes, owned by Johnson Brothers of Black Oak, Ark., and the top 1958 stallion was Bye Heck, owned by J. H. Jennings of Leach, Ark.

Poco Easter, owned by D. C. Baker of Leland, was reserve champion mare and the top 1958 mare.

Poco Whistle, owned by Carl Lawrence of Memphis, won in the 1957 stallion category.

Cindy Lou Fisher, owned by Johnny Fisher of Marlow, Okla., won the 1957 mare category.

THE LITTLEST PONY — William Hine keeps a rope tether on two ponies—mother and daughter—in White Water, Ohio. But, for the little one, it might as well be a dog leash. Baby weighed in at 16 pounds the day she was born, and was 16 inches long, 16 inches high. Now, a couple of months later, she's fatter, sort of broadened out, and higher. But even as a grownup, Farmer Hine predicts, she'll be one of the smallest ever.

Both Tournaments Would Like to Have Oscar

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who gets basketball's Oscar? The National Invitation Tournament or the NCAA Championships?

The question could be answered tonight when Oscar Robertson, the second straight year, leads the Cincinnati Bearcats against the Bradley Braves at Cincinnati.

If Cincinnati wins, the Bearcats will be in the NCAA title event as the Missouri Valley Conference representative with Texas Christian their first opponent at Lawrence, Kan., Friday. Bradley then would fill the last open spot in the 12-team NIT play opening at New York's Madison Square Garden Thursday.

Should St. Louis defeat Cincinnati, the question will be answered at Wichita, Kan., Wednesday with the Braves and Bearcats meeting in a playoff at Cincinnati.

The Missouri Valley Conference bracket is one of the two remaining spots to be filled before 23 teams start play in the NCAA title event. The other is the Border Conference for which New Mexico State and Arizona State University meet for the title tonight. The Border ended in a three-way dead-end tie between New Mexico State and Western 65-68 in the first play-off game Saturday night.

Two brackets were filled in play-off games Saturday. Dartmouth edged Princeton 69-68 for the right to represent the Ivy League and Bowling Green beat Miami of Ohio 76-63 to get the nod from the Mid-American Conference.

Meantime, DePaul got the jump on the remainder of the NCAA championship field by turning back Portland 37-35 in a first round game between two at-large selections at Portland. The victory moved DePaul into the Lawrence regional, where the Demons will meet Kansas State, Bib Eight champions, Friday.

Here's how other first round play shapes up in NCAA action: Tuesday at New York—West Virginia vs. Dartmouth; Connecticut vs. Boston University; North Carolina vs. Navy. The winners join St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania in Charlotte, N.C. Friday and Saturday.

Tuesday at Lexington, Ky.—Eastern Kentucky vs. Louisville; Bowling Green at Marquette. The winners move on to Evanston, Ill., Friday and Saturday for the Mid-East regionals into which Kentucky and Michigan State drew a bye.

Ted Williams Says This May Be Last Year

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Ted Williams has said this could be his last year in baseball if he fails to hit .300.

But if his appearance means anything, there's no need to get desperate about hiring a hall for a retirement banquet, outfielder, who has never hit worse than .317 in his major league career; checked in for spring training looking as though he had spent half the winter soaking in a fountain of youth.

He not only doesn't look 40 years old, but he apparently doesn't feel it, except maybe a little in the legs.

"I feel fine," he said between runs to the batting cage. "I had a bad ankle a year ago but it's not bothering me much now. I'm just a little stiff in the legs."

Does he have to work a lot harder now to get in shape than he did five or six years ago?

"Boy, I don't see how I could work any harder than I did then. I probably wouldn't even be able to work that hard. But it does take me a little longer now. I figure it should be about three weeks."

Williams said he played a little tennis in the winter and, as usual, did a lot of fishing.

Williams is training at his own pace. On a typical day, he may play a little pepper ball, take batting practice, shag some flies and do a little dogging. He hopes he won't have to play in any exhibition game right away.

As usual, he has two jobs in camp—getting in shape himself and acting as batting consultant to anybody who wants the service.

Pettit Piles Up Big Lead in Pro Ball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks has eclipsed the famed George Mikan as the greatest scorer in professional basketball history.

Scoring 30 points Sunday as the Hawks lost to Minneapolis 120-106, Pettit brought his season's average to 29.3 a game. With one game left—even if he is blanked—Pettit is assured of breaking the 28.4 mark Mikan set in 1951.

Pettit already has broken George Yardley's one-season NBA scoring record of 2,001 points. The Hawk also has amassed 2,074 for the 1958-59 campaign as the National Basketball Assn.'s premier point-maker.

Two other records were established Sunday as teams prepared for the playoffs beginning Friday.

The Boston Celtics, paced by Bill Sharman's 20 points, defeated the Cincinnati Royals 141-131 and rang up a season record of 52 triumphs. In the same game, Celtic Bill Russell snared 25 rebounds to give him a season's total of 1,588.

Funeral arrangements are in complete and will be announced by Hicks Funeral Home.

Fulbright Seeks Fishing Answer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Why is the fishing getting worse in the big reservoirs?

The question is put by Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.). He wants the Fish and Wildlife Service to find the answer.

Fulbright pointed out in the Senate recently that in Arkansas, where the big reservoirs attract millions of visitors annually, fishing yields there decline after a few years.

State fish and game agencies lack the resources or personnel to solve the problem, he said. So he introduced a bill asking the Fish and Wildlife Service to do it.

"If we do not develop proper conservation and management practices, our fish resources will not be sufficient to meet future needs," Fulbright says.

He figures the research into the problem would take 10 years.

Fulbright said 22 million people visited federal lakes in 1957, that more than 100 million were visitors to the big reservoirs in Arkansas.

COMMANDER—Lt. Gen. Clyde D. Eddleman, above, has been named to command all U.S. Army forces in Europe. He'll succeed Gen. Henry T. Hodges on April 1.

Service Heads Detail Gaps in Departments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Heads of the military services have detailed for Congress the reservations they had in saying there were no serious gaps in key elements of President Eisenhower's defense budget.

Some of the reservations are costly, but totals were not listed. When the $40,945,000,000 military budget was presented, the Senate Preparedness subcommittee received a statement signed by all four service chiefs and the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Nathan F. Twining. The statement put the military men on record as saying the budget was adequate to provide essential programs.

While the chiefs said then they found no serious gaps, all of them said they had reservations concerning the financing of some parts of their own service programs. The Senate group asked them to spell out the reservations.

These were the recent replies: ARMY—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, said modernization of equipment was the Army's most pressing need; he also asked more money to produce Nike Zeus anti-missile missiles and said the Army needed more money to support more men and to buy more anti-aircraft missiles than the budget provided.

NAVY—Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, asked more money to maintain and modernize ships and airplanes; air power to build more ships, air craft and missiles; a speedup of anti-submarine warfare preparations; procurement of more Polaris ballistic missiles and the sub marines needed to carry and launch them.

AIR FORCE—Gen. Thomas H. White, Air Force chief of staff, asked more money than the budget allowed for replacement of B-70 medium jet bombers by new B-58 supersonic bombers; advocated immediate start on construction of a prototype aircraft that would be powered by a nuclear engine (here he differed with the administration which has not spent money available for that purpose); and expressed concern over reductions in money for production of B-58 anti-aircraft missiles.

MARINES—Gen. Randolph (Mac) Peate, Marine Corps commandant, asked for more Marines; he said the corps should be maintained at about 200,000 in stead of being cut to 175,000 as the budget provides; asked more Navy ships capable of handling amphibious operations; more combat aircraft for the Marines; and more money to replace deteriorating facilities.

Woman Plunges Into River From Bridge

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A woman plunged into the Arkansas river from the Main Street bridge here today and authorities started dragging the river in a hunt for the body.

Police identified the woman as Willie Mae Jordan, 20, Negro, of North Little Rock. Her body has not been recovered several hours after the plunge. Officers quoted witnesses as saying she climbed on the bridge railing and fell backward into the river. A purse she left behind was turned over to the police.

Christine Jordan, a sister of the woman, told officers she knew of no reason for the action.

Demos Urge Step-up in Military Power

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Democrats are renewing their demands for stepped-up U.S. military power, despite President Eisenhower's assurance no more is needed to meet the crisis over Berlin.

Eisenhower met Friday with Senate and House leaders of both parties. He reportedly told them that there is nothing he wants Congress to do now to beef up U.S. military might. They said they were told the tools needed to deal with the threat to Berlin have been provided.

But numerous Democrats spoke out during the weekend for more spending and greater military preparedness for longer range developments, even as they expressed hope that negotiations will settle the Berlin situation this summer.

Democratic leaders are going ahead quietly with plans to make available up to 750 million dollars more than Eisenhower asked for in supplemental appropriations.

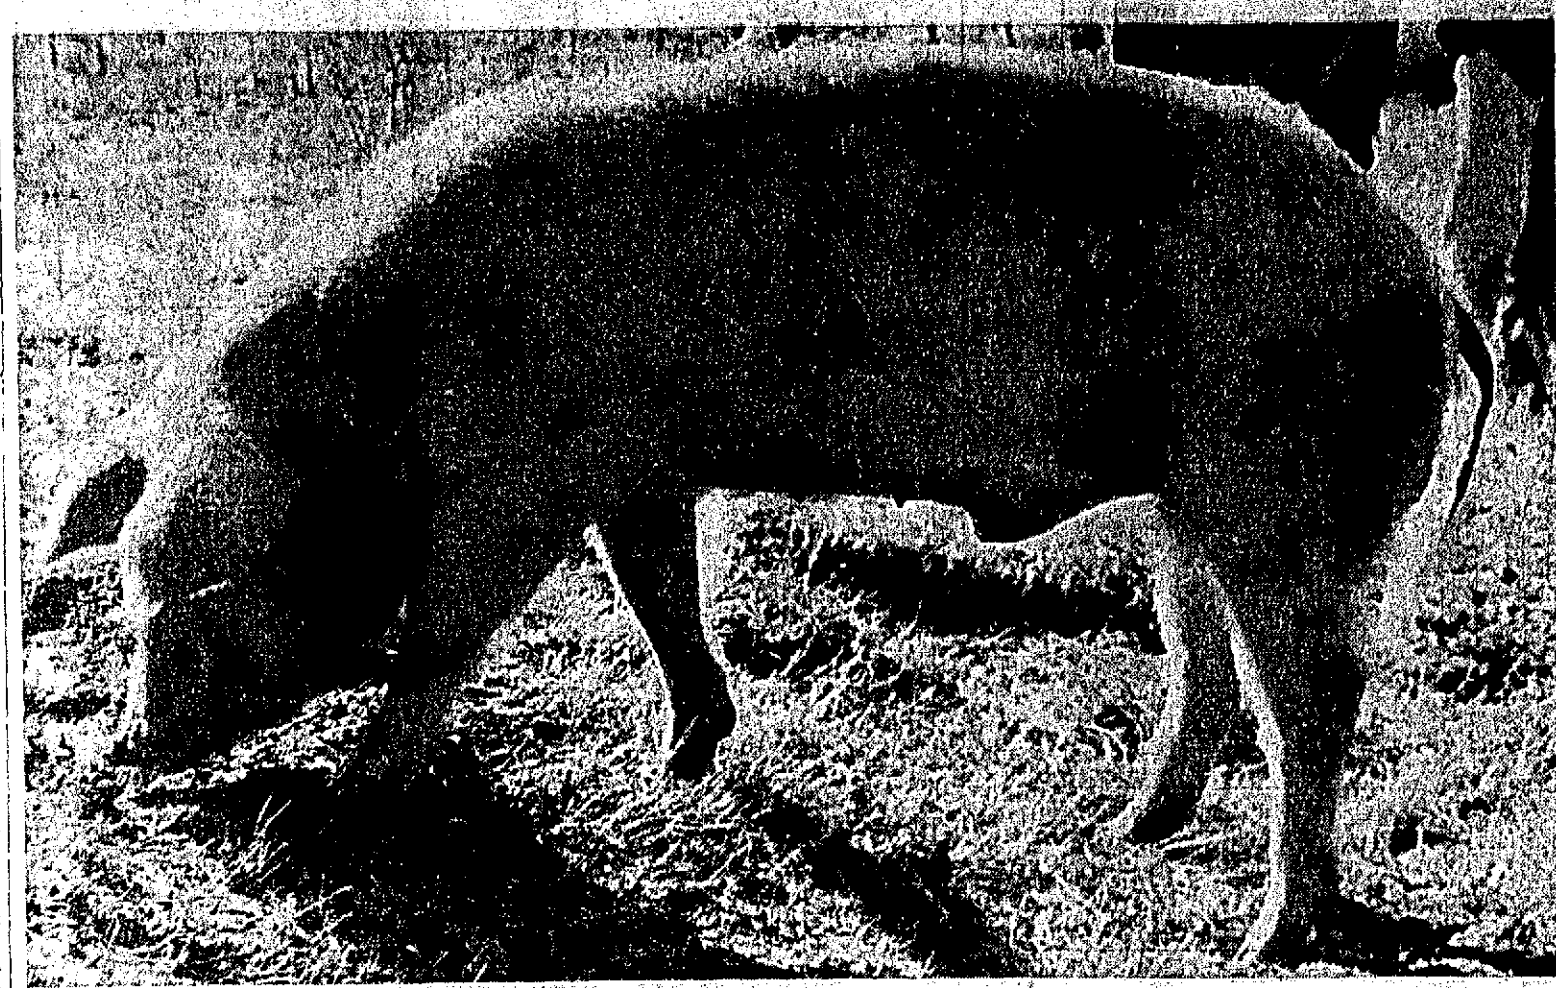

While this story is being initiated in the House, a Senate Preparedness subcommittee, headed by Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, will be engaged in a thorough-going reexamination of defense strength.

Out of these hearings, which start this week, may come recommendations to halt an ordered cut-back in the Army from 900,000 to 870,000 men and in the Marine Corps from 200,000 to 175,000 men by June 3.

Democrats who attended the White House conferences did not go as far as some of their party colleagues in open challenge to Eisenhower's assessment of military needs. Nevertheless, some of them said they felt the armed forces should be strengthened.

KILLER AMONG US

THE STORY: Dorothy Donovan tells Jim Bennett that she has been an old friend of John Simmons, a salesman for a competitor. Mrs. Donovan is a confidential secretary to an executive at the Buckeye plant where Bennett is investigating a case of suspected sabotage, which has caused at least one death.

Howard Ackerman entered, freshly shaven and very spruce in a sharply creased gray summer-weight suit. When he was seated behind his desk and I was slouched in one of the chairs along the wall, he said, "I telephoned Mrs. Staggs this morning. Jake hasn't shown up yet. So I notified the police. Was that proper?"

"Yes," he said. "Maybe not. He might show up today. Don't forget to tell personnel about my assistant coming in this morning."

"That's right," he put a hand on the phone and gave me a crooked smile. "You're referring to our new secretary in the Chicago branch office?"

"Whatever you say — just so no one here associates her with me."

"Phil Varney can see that she has a desk. What's her name?"

"Miss Sandra Hollis."

He grinned. "Blonde. I'll bet. Don't all private detectives have beautiful blondes for secretaries?"

"I wouldn't know. Miss Hollis has freckles and her hair is brown."

He laughed. "You're killing my fence, Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois said he is confident Eisenhower knows what he is doing.

"The President is not only alert to everything that is going on in the military field but so is the defense establishment," Dirksen said in an interview. "I am confident of the adequacy of our forces under every circumstance."

Johnson and Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, prodded the administration to bolster military defenses and to take the initiative in foreign policy actions.

illusions. Bennett. But surely you carry a revolver in a shoulder holster. And a pint of bourbon on your hip?"

I winced and said, "I've been known to carry a gun, but not in a shoulder holster. As for whiskey, I like it out of a glass. But if it's any comfort to you, I do have a gun and a bottle in my bag at the hotel."

Ackerman proved to be a patient, thorough and informative guide. In the two hours we spent touring the factory I learned as much as could be learned by a layman about the manufacture of grinding wheels and other abrasive products.

It was difficult for me to realize, for example, that the bases of some of the huge hydraulic presses were buried many feet in concrete and exerted a pressure of 1500 tons on a raw grinding wheel, or that the top temperature in both the round and 200-foot long tunnel kilns was 2900 degrees Fahrenheit.

Through a wide archway on my left I could see the inspection and shipping departments and recognized the burly shipping foreman, Mike Brandon, as he stood by a group of men nailing crates. He gazed about, saw us, and waved. Ackerman and I waved back. I stopped and pointed at one of the kilns where a man was using bricks, cement and a trowel to seal a doorway. "I assume that kiln is fired now. How long will the wheels be in there?"

"Ten day to two weeks," Ackerman said, "from firing time until the wheels are fired and the kiln is cool enough to enter and take them out. The tunnel kilns are more efficient — just three days' burning time, usually — and we hope eventually to replace these old-type kilns with tunnels."

Mike Brandon stood by, giving instructions, and on occasion helping with a chain hoist or personally lowering a flat dark grinding wheel into a drum. He straightened when he saw us, grinned and wiped sweat from his face. The first two fingers of his right hand were wrapped in blood stained bandages.

Ackerman said to him, "Mike, you'd better watch yourself. If you keep on loading those drums yourself we'll have a grievance from the union about foremen working."

"Yes, I know," Brandon said, "but figure this is an emergency. He nodded at the shipping drums. "Those wheels are for Portage Foundry. There are still some to be tested and we'll finish the packing tonight." Ackerman nodded at Brandon's bandaged fingers. "What happened?"

"Caught 'em between a couple of wheels, when I was packing a drum. The nurse said they might need some stitches, but I haven't got time now."

Ackerman pointed to a group of shipping drums, already sealed with metal caps, and with black lettering on the sides reading Alexander Steel Co., Bedford, Pa. "Aren't those Alexander Steel wheels the same specifications as the ones we sell Portage Foundry?"

"Exactly," Brandon said. "Same size, grain and grade." Ackerman jerked his head at me and moved away. I followed. At the entrance to the testing area he stopped and said, "I can't understand it. Those Alexander Steel wheels and the ones for Portage are identical, made exactly the same way. Yet the Portage wheels break in operation, and the Alexander Steel wheels are perfect."

Suddenly I had an idea, a weak one, maybe. "Listen, are there enough of those Alexander Steel

Three Days Left for the Legislature

By JACK MARTIN

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The last week of the 62nd General Assembly begins today — three and a half working days.

Most major proposals have been disposed of by passage or defeat.

But one important piece of legislation still is left, a controversial move to add three members to the six-man Little Rock School Board.

Passed during this session was a new state insurance code and a stronger law on the sale of securities.

The Legislature rejected proposals to boost gasoline taxes and auto truck registration fees to raise money for the Highway Department, but the department could still get the money if a pending bill authorizing a bond issue is approved.

Most of the appropriation bills have been passed.

Another big issue — the move to make Arkansas State College at Jonesboro a university — apparently is out of the way. The bill passed the Senate but was defeated twice in the House, although it can still come up for another vote in the lower chamber and may be put up again.

Action to allow legalized gambling at Hot Springs is not dead yet. The Senate overwhelmingly defeated a bill that would let Garland County residents vote on the matter but Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst countered by proposing a resolution calling for a constitutional amendment to legalize gambling in the resort city. This has yet to be voted on.

Pulaski Rep. T. E. Tyler's bill to allow Gov. Orval E. Faubus to appoint three new members to the Little Rock School Board passed the House but was tabled in the Senate through efforts of Sen. Elmer Fagan of Little Rock. This maneuver means that 24 votes are needed to bring the proposal out for action.

Tyler's bill drew a storm of opposition, from Little Rock groups and from most of the Pulaski County legislative delegation.

As an alternate proposal, Sen. Max Howell introduced a measure that would let the people, if they choose, add three members to the board in a special election. Fagan and other opponents to Tyler's bill accepted Howell's proposal, and the Senate passed it.

Backers of action to increase the board's membership contend it is needed to break a deadlock on the board. Three members have adopted a strong segregationist stand. The other three have asked in a public statement that the board prepare a plan of controlled integration, as a means of opening the four closed high schools.

Highway Ad Sign Bill Passes House

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas House today passed two bills which would regulate advertising along state highways.

There was spirited opposition to both measures.

One bill would prohibit construction of advertising signs with 600 feet of the right of way on any interstate highway.

The other measure would give the state Highway Department the right to acquire easements in which advertising could be restricted along other highways.

Jefferson Rep. Carl Burnell, a motel operator, opposed both bills on grounds that no government agency had the right to tell a private business what to do.

"We have people right here in the state Capitol who draw state money but avoid paying this tax," Van Dalsem said. He mentioned no names.

Sanity Test for Leggett Again Denied

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court today upheld Circuit Judge Henry W. Smith of Pine Bluff in refusing to order a sanity trial for condemned slayer Emmett Earl Leggett.

Leggett's attorney, Kenneth Coffelt, asked Prison Supt. Leo Henslee to empanel a jury to pass on the prisoner's sanity. Such a procedure is authorized under an old and seldom-used law.

A finding that Leggett was insane would result in a suspension of the death sentence. He is under for the strangulation slaying of 14-year-old Joe King near Jacksonville in December, 1955.

Henslee refused Coffelt's request. The attorney then sought an order from Smith, was refused and appealed to the Supreme Court. Both the circuit judge and the Supreme Court said that Henslee had acted within proper discretion. The prison superintendent cited reports of State Hospital psychiatrist showing that Leggett is sane.

It apparently will be to Gov. Orval E. Faubus to set a new date for electrocution of Leggett, who has received a long series of delays since he was convicted of first degree murder here nearly three years ago.

This was the third time the case had been before the state Supreme Court.

Coffelt said he would file a petition for rehearing by the high court. Such petitions seldom are granted.

Democrat Reporter Sues the Gazette

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas Democrat reporter Robert Trout today filed a $500,000 libel suit against the Arkansas Gazette and two Little Rock residents.

Suit against the Arkansas Gazette are Harold F. Dunaway and Cecil B. Hill, who last month charged that Trout accepted $2,000 a year ago not to write a series of articles on pinball machine operations in Pulaski County. Dunaway and Hill operate a pinball distributing company.

The Gazette published the statements of Dunaway and Hill Trout perjury owner what he could do.

Woodruff Rep. Jack Oakes, author of the two measures, became angry when Purnell accused him of misrepresenting the second bill.

Purnell said Oakes claimed the bill did not regulate advertising. Then he read a section which spelled out provisions for such regulation.

Oakes said this provision was merely a revision of present law.

Still Negotiating for Mutual Network

NEW YORK (AP)—A spokesman for the Mutual Broadcasting System said today negotiations for its sale to a group of New York businessmen probably won't be completed before the latter part of this week.

Mutual announced Friday night that a group headed by Malcolm Smith had purchased an option to buy the radio network. Smith is president of Harrison Home Products, a firm which includes importing and the making of minor label phonograph records among its activities. The other members of the Smith group were not named.

Mutual has 453 affiliated radio stations which it provides with news, sports, and special features.

A veteran mine operator who witnessed the violence — packed mine strikes of the 1930s said the current situation was completely different. The earlier strikes, which brought Harlan County its grim nickname of "Bloody Harlan," were the result of organizing efforts. "Nothing quite like this situation has happened before," he said.

The UMW demanded a $2 daily basic wage boost to $21.25 a day.

Rain Hampers Coal Miners' Activities

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH
HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—Coal miners made one show of strength this morning and then retired in a downpour of rain as a United Mine Workers Union strike started in Harlan County.

A caravan of 100 men in 34 cars drove here from the mining community of Evans, then returned to Evans and disbanded.

The situation was quiet. A few pickets were reported at High-splint and the Harlan Fuel Co. The High split pickets joined the caravan as it passed.

The strike, affecting about 3,100 of Harlan County's 5,000 miners, began at midnight Saturday after last-minute negotiations failed to produce agreement to a UMA contract by 20 independent operators.

The strike, affecting about 3,100 of Harlan County's 5,000 miners, began at midnight Saturday after last-minute negotiations failed to produce agreement to a UMA contract by 20 independent operators.

An air of quiet, but expectancy, prevailed in this hard-pressed area. Some 13,000 of Harlan County's 68,000 residents are already on federal surplus food rolls. An denied them at the time and immediately threatened legal action. In his Pulaski Circuit Court suit, Trout charged a conspiracy between the Gazette and Dunaway and Hill to discredit him and the actual damages and $200,000 punitive damages.

Harry S. Ashmore, executive editor of the Gazette, and Edwin E. Dunaway attorney for Dunaway and Hill, declined immediate comment on the suit.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.
